

THE WEEKLY TOLL OF DEATH

MRS. NATHANIEL MILLER IN HER 81ST YEAR.

George W. Miller, Retired Farmer of Abbottstown, and John Ball, Veteran, Among the Number.

Mrs. Joanna Miller, widow of the late Register and Recorder Nathaniel Miller, died at her home on East Middle street, Sunday morning shortly after seven o'clock, following a brief illness. Mrs. Miller was aged 80 years, 11 months and 8 days. Mrs. Miller was a faithful member of the St. Francis Xavier Catholic Church, and was a good mother and kind neighbor, and had the esteem of all who knew her. She is survived by one son, Pius A. Miller, Baltimore street, and two sisters, Miss Agnes Alwine, of Hanover, who was at her bedside Sunday, and Mrs. Lydia Breigner of Irishtown. Her husband died April 25, 1895. The funeral was held Wednesday morning at Conowago Chapel with requiem high mass. Burial was made in the Chapel Cemetery, where her husband is interred.

George Miller, a prominent citizen of Abbottstown, died last Friday night, May 4, aged 63 years, 2 months and 13 days. He was a son of the late Henry and Rebecca Miller, of Berwick township, and was married to a Miss Maggie Brodbeck, of Codorus, who survives with two daughters, Mrs. Emanuel Berkheimer, of Abbottstown, and Mrs. Harry Criswell of Lancaster. Also the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Joseph Wagner of Hanover, Mrs. John Freed, of Abbottstown, John Miller of Berwick township, Theodore and William Miller of York, Augustus and Daniel Miller of Abbottstown, Associate Judge E. P. Miller of Gettysburg, and Charles Miller residing in California. He was a retired farmer and at the time of his death a member of the Abbottstown town council. For many years he was a school director of Berwick township. He was a staunch Democrat, serving his party frequently as committeeman. He was also a member of the Lutheran Church, Abbottstown, being an elder of the church at the time of his death. The funeral was held Tuesday, May 8, services by his pastor, Rev. F. C. Sternat, interment in the Lutheran Cemetery, Abbottstown.

John Ball, native of Ireland, former resident of Gettysburg, and a veteran of the Civil War, died last Friday morning at his home in Taneytown after an illness of six months, aged 81 years. Mr. Ball came with his parents from Ireland when he was only eleven or twelve years of age. The family settled in Buchanan Valley and he lived there until 1892 when he moved to Gettysburg. He lived in and near the town until the spring of 1916 when he moved to Taneytown. During the Civil War he served in Co. H, 49th Pennsylvania Infantry. He was married to Miss Clara Brady of Buchanan Valley, who died about thirty-seven years ago, and he leaves one son, Richard Ball of Taneytown. He also leaves a brother, Peter Ball, of Cambria county. Funeral was on Monday morning from St. Ignatius Catholic Church, Buchanan Valley.

Mrs. Lizzie Boyer Hankey, wife of Bladen Hankey, died at her home in Butler township, near Goldenville, Monday evening at six o'clock, following an illness of several weeks, aged 45 years, 6 months and 23 days. Funeral services were held from her late home Wednesday afternoon with burial at Mummaburg. Rev. C. F. Floto in charge of services. Mrs. Hankey was a daughter of Martin Boyer, Butler township. Besides her father, Martin Boyer, and her husband, she is survived by three children, Mrs. Morris Trostle of Gettysburg, and Wilmer and Grant at home. She also leaves the following brothers and sisters: William Boyer of Chambersburg, John Boyer of McAllen township, Clayton Boyer of Mechanicsburg, Mrs. Annie Matthews of Chester county, and Mrs. Joseph Albert of Butler township.

George Ewald died at his home on Mummaburg street, Gettysburg, on Sunday morning after a brief illness from acute indigestion, aged 84 years. Mr. Ewald was born in Germany and came to this country in his earlier years. He followed the trade of a shoemaker for many years in Franklin township, but has been living retired for the past few years. The funeral was held Tuesday with services by Rev. Dr. R. S. Oyster, and interment at Flier's Church.

Mrs. Emma J. Yingling died May 3 in Washington, D. C., aged 76 years, as the result of an attack of paralysis. Mrs. Yingling was a daughter of the late David and Maria Weikert, and leaves two sons and two daughters. She was a native of Littlestown, is survived by three sisters and two brothers. They are Mrs. J. R. Jordan of Danville, Mrs. A. G. Harner of Littlestown, Mrs. L. F. Shanessy of York, and Alvin W. Weikert and Mark C. Weikert, both of Washington, D. C. Interment was made at Reisterstown, Md., on Saturday.

Mrs. Lewis Fahs, aged 70 years, died May 2 at the family residence near East Berlin. Mrs. Fahs had been in ill health for some time and died as a result of a surgical operation she underwent several days ago. In her immediate family circle she is survived by her husband and one son, Ralph Fahs. Funeral on last Saturday with interment in the Holtzschwam Cemetery.

Frank Eckenrode, a well known retired farmer of the county, after an illness of six months, died last Saturday at the home of his son, Basil Eckenrode, on the old homestead, near Mt. Rock, this county. He was aged about 76 years. He is survived by four daughters, Mrs. John Reed and Mrs. George Gruninger of Edgewood, Miss Irene Eckenrode at home, Mrs. Margaret Orendorff of York, and five sons, Basil, with whom he made his home, Grover of Coatesville, Victor and John of York, and William at home. Funeral was Monday morning from Conowago Chapel with mass of requiem by Rev. Charles Koch, and interment in the Chapel Cemetery.

Bethesda Florence, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Lohr, died at the home of her parents in Littlestown, Sunday, May 6, after a brief illness of pneumonia. The child was aged nine months and one day. The funeral was held Tuesday by Rev. F. S. Lindaman with interment at Christ Reformed Cemetery near Littlestown.

Mrs. Mary Stearn, wife of John N. Stearn, died recently in New York City after a brief illness. She was a daughter of Mrs. A. R. Potts of Washington, a former resident of Gettysburg. Mrs. Stearn was well known here having been a frequent visitor while her mother resided here. She was a niece of Miss Julia Gilbert of this place.

William E. Routzahn died at his home in Williamstown, aged 64 years, 11 months and 25 days. He leaves a wife and seven sons and one daughter. He also leaves the following brothers and sisters: George Routzahn, of Conneville, Mrs. Lydia Ross of New Oxford, Mrs. Ringler of Harrisville, Mrs. William Gordon of Harrisburg, and Miss Alice Routzahn of York.

Mrs. Levi Flickinger, a former citizen of Littlestown, died Wednesday of last week in York, aged 68 years. She was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Hesson of Littlestown. She leaves a husband and five daughters. A brother and sister survive, Joseph Hesson and Mrs. Annie Robinson, both of Littlestown. Interment was at Littlestown last Monday.

Mrs. Anna Mary Myers died at her home near York Springs on Sunday aged about 81 years. The funeral was held on Wednesday by Rev. Paul Gladfelter with interment in Lower Bermudian Cemetery. She leaves one daughter, Miss Lila Myers, at home. Rev. John L. Metzger, pastor of the Lutheran Church at Rebersburg, Pa., died on April 28 in his 95th year. He died from a stroke. He was a native of Myersville, Md., and graduated from Gettysburg College in 1882 and from the Seminary here in 1885, and same year married Miss Alice Brown of Myersville, who survives with three sons and a daughter, John H., a son, being in the Sophomore class in Gettysburg College, and Howard L. in the Academy here.

They have also sent to the address of each of the above, the first report of the executive committee of the State, and will have sent to them in the future all the literature and advice published by said committee. They are also advising them to use all their influence in their respective districts, to have all available land cultivated and made productive, so as to meet all possible contingencies in the future which may arise, in the great war we have entered for the preservation and security of human rights.

MARRIAGE BELLS RING

ONE OF THE KANE TWINS UNITED IN MARRIAGE.

In the Same Church and by the Same Pastor Marrying His Parents 35 Years Ago.

Kane-Springer.—St. John the Baptist Catholic Church of Scottsdale, Pa., was the scene of a very beautiful wedding on Tuesday, May 8, when Miss Elizabeth Helen Springer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Springer of Smithton, Pa., and Carl William Kane of near Arendtsville, were united in marriage. The bride wore a blue taffeta traveling suit trimmed with white silk, to harmonize, and hat and shoes to match, while the groom wore the usual wedding suit of black. The attendants were Miss Tessie Parachimo of Smithton, and J. Leroy Kane, a twin brother of the groom.

The wedding recalls a very fond recollection of the Kane family. In the same church and by the same pastor, Rev. Fr. Lambing, the parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Kane, were married 35 years ago. The newly wedded couple expect to make a wedding tour to Connellsville, Cumberland and Eastern cities. Upon their return home they will reside on the fruit farm of the father of the groom, where they will engage in farming.

Ziegler-Hook.—On Tuesday, April 10, Rev. Dr. R. Keene Ryan of Chicago, married Miss Rose A. Hook and Samuel Perry Ziegler, both of Chicago. The groom was a Gettysburg boy, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ziegler, and has many friends in this place.

Noel-Becker.—Stansilus Noel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Noel, of Oxford Road, and Miss Grace Becker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Becker of Midway, were married in St. Vincent's Catholic Church, Monday morning by Rev. W. A. Howard. A capital high mass was celebrated. Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the bride's home and a dinner and reception at the home of the groom. The groom is employed at the Hanover Shoe Factory. Mr. and Mrs. Noel will reside at the Noel home for the present.

Kremer-Plank.—Prof. Clair E. Kremer of Woodward, Centre Co., and Miss Edna Plank, of Fairfield, were married on Tuesday, May 1, in Baltimore, by Rev. Henry A. Benfer, D.D. After spending a short honeymoon in Washington and in Baltimore they will reside in Woodward.

Brown-Bankert.—On Tuesday, May 2, Mrs. Elva Bankert of Littlestown, became the bride of Harry J. Brown of Silver Run, the Rev. Milton Whitener, pastor of Redeemer's Reformed Church, Littlestown, officiating. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride. After a wedding trip to Virginia, the newly wedded couple will make their home for the present in Littlestown. The bride is superintendent of the Cradle Roll Department of Redeemer's Reformed Church. The groom is a farmer.

Routson-Harner.—Ernest C. Routson and Miss Ruth Harner were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, May 5, in the parsonage of St. John's Lutheran Church, Littlestown, by the pastor, Rev. I. M. Lau. The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Annie Harner of Littlestown, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. David Routson. He is an employee of the Hanover Cordage Co. They will reside with the bride's mother in Littlestown.

Eckert; Presentation of Diplomas; Doxology and Benediction.

U. S. to Buy Trolley.

The United States becomes the owner of the lands of the Gettysburg Trolley by a rider attached to the Army Appropriation Bill which passes the house on Wednesday. $30,000 is appropriated for the purchase of all lands used by the trolley beyond the borough limits. The price was the amount awarded by the jury of viewers many years ago, when it was proposed to condemn the loop from the Wible farm around to Devil's Den. It was contended at that time that the taking of this loop would prevent the trolley from making a circuit at the southern end and the jury awarded the company $30,000. An appeal from the award was taken by the United States but was never concluded by the taking of any land.

The owners of the road proposed in the rider attached to the army bill not only to include the land then sought to be condemned but all land outside the borough at the same figure. The bill passed by the House on Wednesday had previously passed the Senate so it is now law. It is understood that the course now followed has the sanction of the Park Commission and all other authorities.

This sale to the Government means the beginning of the end of the Gettysburg Trolley. It has served its purpose. At the time of its building and for years afterwards, it served the very useful purpose of making the battlefield accessible to thousands of visitors. That purpose is better served to-day by the automobile over the fine system of avenues. The trolley never served a purpose for the borough that justified the expense and the sooner it is taken off our streets the better. The company paid to the borough recently $382 for back car tax and one car this summer. The company should speed its departure from our streets and if it does not, should be helped off as quickly as can be done. The presence of the trolley tracks on our streets could delay the permanent improvement of our streets, and in view of the fact that the United States has been persuaded to buy what is out of the town the company should show itself deserving of the Government's donation by getting off the streets in the town.

High Place for Geo. A. Harris.

Geo. A. Harris of McConnellsburg, president of the Fulton County Bank, has been appointed as the Pennsylvania representative of the Federal Land Bank District No. 2, Baltimore. He reports for duty this week. There are twelve Federal land banks located throughout the United States. The Baltimore bank embraces the states of Pennsylvania, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland and Delaware. The purpose of the Federal farm loan board is to appoint only men who are especially well qualified, for the success of the banks depends upon the management. Mr. Harris' long and wide experience in banking, real estate and loans well fits him for the place. The applications for loans from Pennsylvania will all be passed upon by Mr. Harris and his duties will call him to all parts of the state. It is a high position of trust and the many friends of Mr. Harris in Gettysburg rejoice in his appointment, for they know him not only as a specially well qualified but also true blue all the time. It is a well deserved appointment and pays a handsome salary. Mr. Harris put up a great fight last fall for congress in his district, one which was made to go the other way and came near winning.

Farm Agent on Duty.

H. F. Hershey, a native of Lancaster county, and a graduate of the Agricultural School at State College, has started on his duties as the Farm Agent for Adams county. He has an office in the Court House in the rooms of County Superintendent of Schools. Mr. Hershey is a practical farmer as well as having had a thorough scientific training. He was born and grew up on a farm where the work was raising grain, potatoes, tobacco and feeding cattle. He was manager of the Heister farm near Harrisburg and has been engaged in trucking along with farming. His services and advice are free to the farmers of the county for the asking. He will visit the farms whenever necessary and will co-operate in every way to make his services effective. He has already been applied to for advice. The farmers should not hesitate to take their farm troubles to him, that is what he is here for.

Another Naval Appointment.

Congressman Brodbeck has been notified that a recent act of Congress has empowered him to make an additional appointment to the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis for admission in 1918, candidates to take the examination June 27, 1917. While Congressman Brodbeck recently filled two vacancies in the naval academy as a result of advancements by the graduation of the first and second classes then in the institution, the recent act of Congress is used as a means to safeguard the existence of any vacancies in the service school in the future.

The Navy Department has issued a circular letter to all congressmen and senators empowered to make appointments for admission to the service school, urging them to advise each candidate to submit to unofficial physical examination at the hands of a surgeon at the nearest naval recruiting office, which in the local instance would be in York. Further information concerning the appointment to Annapolis may be secured from the York office of Congressman Brodbeck.

Saves Eggs

Royal Baking Powder makes it possible to produce appetizing and wholesome cakes, muffins, cornbread, etc., with fewer eggs than are usually required.

In many recipes the number of eggs may be reduced and excellent results obtained by adding an additional quantity of Royal Baking Powder, about a teaspoon, for each egg omitted. The following tested recipe is a practical illustration:

SPONGE CAKE

1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
3 eggs
2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
4 cup flour
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup cold water
1 teaspoon vanilla

DIRECTIONS:—Beat sugar and water until it spins a thread and add to the stiffly beaten whites of eggs, beating until the mixture is stiff. Sift together three times the flour, salt and baking powder, and add alternately to the white mixture with the yolks of the eggs, beating well. Add 1/2 cup cold water and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Mix lightly and bake in moderate oven about one hour.

The old method called for 6 eggs and no baking powder

ROYAL BAKING POWDER

Made from Cream of Tartar, derived from grapes, and is none but healthful qualities to the food.

No Alum

No Phosphate

More room is needed and the Committee has no sympathy for the attitude of those members of the Bar protesting against the use of the Law Library Room for meetings for public purposes of the kind. The county funds have paid for the building of the room in which the library is located. Hence it belongs to all of the people and not to any special class. The editor of the Compiler as an attorney repudiates the position of certain lawyers, we only desire to enjoy the library room in common with other people of the county who can enjoy its use at the same time, and we fail to see how any harm could be done, specially as the county has a caretaker who could be asked to be on hand on all occasions when room is occupied. In these days community centers are being encouraged and developed and there could be no better community center than the Court House affords. The total membership of the Gettysburg Chapter has reached near the 200 mark. New members are as follows:

Mrs. Sarah B. King, C. A. Blocher, Mrs. C. A. Blocher, Mrs. P. M. Bickle, Miss Annie Althoff, Miss Regina Christer, Miss Ruth Breighner, Mrs. W. L. Hafer, Mrs. E. Felton, Mrs. L. M. ### French General to be Invited Here.

Congressman A. R. Brodbeck, on behalf of the people of this congressional district, will invite Marshal Joffre to visit the Gettysburg battlefield, and he proposes that the commissioners go to York by train and journey to Gettysburg by automobile.

Congressman Brodbeck will point out to Marshal Joffre that the battle of Gettysburg marked the turning point in the war between the States, and the manner in which that battle was fought has been studied by military authorities for years. The Senior Class of West Point Military Academy visits the place every year and makes a study of the battle right on the field. A training camp for marine officers has also been maintained there each year for a number of years past.

It will be suggested to the Joffre party that in order to visit places that General Lafayette, whose memory is revered by all Americans, stopped on his second visit to this country, and in order to save time and give Marshal Joffre an opportunity to view these historic places, the party go to York by train and journey to Gettysburg by automobile.

The itinerary of the Joffre party for its stay in this country has already been made up by the Department of State, and if Congressman Brodbeck is to succeed in this movement on behalf of his constituents, it means that this itinerary must be changed. Congressman Brodbeck proposes to get busy on the matter at once and take it up in conferences with the officials of the State Department and the War Department, the French ambassador, as well as with the Joffre party also.

Sunday, May 13, Mother's Day.

Governor Brumbaugh has issued a Mothers' Day proclamation: "Mothers of Men, Guardians of Homes, Moral Guides of the Nation—YOU, the givers of all that is sweetest, purest and noblest in life, I greet and salute. Fitting indeed it is to sanctify ourselves on May 13 by reverent regard and tenderest thought of Mother. If she is here still be thankful and pay her the respect her exalted station warrants and merits. If she be not here may our thoughts and our pure love climb the angel-trod stairs to her abiding home, that she of the Choir Invisible may sing with Him the glad song of a mother beloved and remembered. "May all of us be drawn on this day to our loved ones and in their midst let us place our dear mothers and thank God for what they have done for us, for our Country, for the Lord's Kingdom."

If You Need Rugs Within the Next Year==Buy Them Now!

THIS is sound advice, which may be wisely followed by all home furnishers. The present shortage of carpet wool, of jute, of linen, and the higher costs of labor, fuel, power and other items, are forcing manufacturers to increase prices of future shipments. If you need Rugs at once, or next summer or autumn—buy them NOW at present prices. For the information of our customers it is almost unnecessary to say that, irrespective of market conditions, we shall still adhere to the same standards. Our prices always shall be based on actual costs to us—and we shall take advantage of every merchandising opportunity which might be converted to your advantage. Despite unprecedented market conditions our selling of Rugs last month exceeded all previous records for January and February sales. The following Rugs here named we have fair stocks of.

Wool Fiber Rugs	Tapestry	Axminster	Body Brussels
36x72 in.	Small Sizes	9x12	9x12
6x9 ft.	8-3x10-2
8-3x10-6	9x12
9x12

Oil Cloth, Linola and Linoleums. The above remarks hold good in this line as some of the largest manufacturers have withdrawn their lines and the trend of advance and scarcity is sure to be felt this year. We have a fair assortment here at no exorbitant prices

Window Shades. These are higher than last season, but we feel confident we can give you prices that will save you money from prices later on when our present stock is sold

Little Things.

It surely is the little things that cause the most worry in this old vale of tears, and when some mere trifle, like a shoe-string or a carter, gives way at an especially inopportune moment one doesn't give much thought for the time being to our international relations.—Ohio State Journal.

Usually the Case.

The husband may be boss of his own house, but his wife usually conceals the fact from his knowledge until he forgets about it.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

A Possibility.

A pessimist is a person who tells you that what appears to be a silver lining in your cloud is only a low grade of tin foil.—Galveston News.

A Peer Recommendation.

"He means well," she said. "Say no more," he replied. "I know now exactly what sort of fool he is."

Breaking Into Society.

"I want you to take some pictures of the wedding," said the prospective bridegroom. "Very good," said the prospective photographer. "And also have a couple of phony cameras along for me to smash."—New York American.

Fame can never make us lie down peacefully in a deathbed.—Pope.

PERSONALS.

—Miss Carrie Musselman, West Middle street, is attending the convention of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the General Synod at Wheeling, W. Va. Mrs. Lucinda Musselman has gone to Hanover to spend a week with Mrs. Harry DeLoe.

—Mrs. Jacob Herbst has returned to her home on York street after a visit with Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Enders in York.

—Wilson A. Bream, Broadway, is spending several days in New York City on business.

—Miss E. M. McClean, East Middle street, is spending some time in Mechanicsburg where she was called by the serious illness of her brother, the Rev. Robert F. McClean, who was stricken with paralysis on last Friday.

—Mrs. Samuel Eicholtz motored to Elbert City this week where she will spend two weeks.

—Parent-Teachers' meeting this Friday evening, May 11, with a good program on "Child Welfare."

—Senator Beale's anti smoking and gambling bill which the Committee recently published in full, passed the House of Representatives and will become a law as soon as Governor Pennock signs his approval. Representative D. C. Ruffell has introduced in the House a bill to prevent the killing of deer during dangerous seasons and land.

Graduated Cigar Tax Secured.

The revenue bill as reported to the House of Representatives by the Ways and Means Committee provides a graduated taxation on cigars asked for by Congressman Brodbeck when he had a conference with Chairman Kitchin on April 25. Increased taxation has been made necessary owing to the enormous expense that will be incurred by the government for conducting the war. When the Spanish-American War was in operation a flat increase was made on the tax on cigars by collecting the amount of stamps. Mr. Brodbeck felt that the tax should be levied on the basis of the selling price of cigars in order that the manufacturer may be properly taken care of and that the percentage of tax be applied on the basis of the business done by the manufacturer.

In the bill as reported by the Ways and Means Committee the increased taxation for cigar stamps will vary from fifty cents to ten dollars per thousand. The graduated scale is so worked out that the manufacturer of cigars selling at the lower prices will pay the lowest tax, while those manufacturing the higher priced cigars will pay the greater tax. In the plan suggested by Mr. Brodbeck various colored stamps will be used to be placed on boxes in which cigars are packed, the color designating the price at which the manufacturer intended the cigars should be sold.

This is a direct protection to the consumer, and of immense value to the manufacturer from the fact that he can continue manufacturing the same grades of cigars as now, with the lower grades but a slight advance in the cost of the stamp tax.

The enactment of this into a law will be of great value not only to the cigar manufacturers of York and Adams counties, as well as elsewhere, who manufacture the lower priced cigars, but will also mean much to those who are employed in the manufacture of these cigars. Had there been an arbitrary flat increase in the stamp tax it might have had the effect, owing to the present high cost of tobacco of resulting in manufacturers of the lower priced cigars either to close their factories or to have asked an advance retail price which would have very materially reduced the consumption.

As there are nearly 4,000 people directly engaged in the making of cigars in York and Adams counties, it can readily be understood the great value of this plan of taxation will have as it keeps these people employed in making the same grades of cigars as they have been and also gives practical assurance that there will be no curtailment of the consumption.

At the time of Mr. Brodbeck's last conference with Chairman Kitchin, of the Ways and Means Committee, he had with him a committee of cigar manufacturers from this district who gave considerable data as to the cigar industry.

It is believed that the new stamp tax will go into effect about July 1.

The stamp tax on cigars is now at the rate of $3 per thousand flat. As provided in the bill for additional tax, cigars to sell at less than four cents retail, will have an additional tax of fifty cents per thousand, making the total $3.50; cigars retailing at from four to six cents will have an additional tax of $1, making the total $4 per thousand; those retailing from six to ten cents, and additional tax of $2, making a total of $5 per thousand; those retailing from ten to fifteen cents, an additional tax of $4, making the total $7 per thousand; those retailing from fifteen to twenty cents, an additional tax of $6, making a total stamp tax of $8 per thousand; from twenty to twenty-five cents, an additional tax of $7, making a total of $10 per thousand, and all over twenty-five cents, $10 additional, making a total of $13 per thousand stamp tax.

BACKACHE IS A WARNING

Gettysburg People Should Not Neglect Their Kidneys.

Backache is often nature's most frequent signal of weakened kidneys. To cure the pains and aches, to remove the lameness when it arises from weakened kidneys, you must reach the cause—the kidneys. If you have pain through the small of your back, bladder disorders, headaches, dizzy spells, or are nervous and depressed, start treating the kidneys with a tested kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills have been proved good and are especially for weak kidneys. Doan's have been used in kidney trouble for over 30 years. Read Gettysburg testimony.

Mr. D. F. Arendt, Railroad St., says: "I was suffering from backache. My kidneys acted too frequently. I felt all worn-out at times. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at the People's Drug Store and they gave me relief at once. I always keep Doan's on hand in case of need."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Arendt keeps on hand. Foster-McBarn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Army Rifles of Europe.

The German Mauser can fire faster than any other rifle used by the armies of Europe. The magazine holds five cartridges, packed in chargers.

The British rifle is the outcome of the South African war. It holds ten cartridges and is sighted from 200 to 2,500 yards.

The Italian Mannlicher-Carcano is rather slow, discharging but fifteen rounds of shot a minute.

The French Lebel is the longest rifle. The tube magazine under the barrel holds eight cartridges. The bullet used in it weighs 198 grains.

The Russian rifle is seven inches longer than the British. It is capable of firing twenty-four bullets to the minute. The bayonet is always fixed.

The Austrian rifle is the lightest of all, yet its bullet, 214 grain, is the heaviest used by any of the powers. It is very rapid in action.

The Belgian Mauser of 1889 holds five cartridges carried in clips. It cannot be used as a single loader. It weighs over eight pounds.

From the Cellar of Life.

Do not be afraid, do not cry out, for life is good. I came from low down, from the cellar of life, where darkness and terror reign, where man is half beast and life is only a fight for bread. It flows slowly there, in dark streams, but even there gleam pearls of courage, of intelligence and of heroism, even there beauty and love exist. Everywhere that man is found, good is; in tiny particles and invisible roots—but still it is there. All these roots will not perish; some will grow and flourish and bear fruit. I bought dearly the right to believe this; therefore it is mine my whole life long. And thus I have won yet another right, the right to demand that you, too, believe as I do, for I am the voice of that life, the despairing cry of those who remain below and who have sent me to herald their pain. They also long to rise to self respect, to light and freedom.—Gorky in "The Peasants."

Horse Sense.

If you work for a man, in heaven's name work for him. If he pays wages that supply you your bread and butter, work for him, speak well of him, think well of him, stand by him and stand by the institution he represents. I think if I worked for a man I would work for him. I would not work for him a part of his time, but all of his time. I would give an unqualified service or none. If you go to a place an ounce of loyalty is worth a pound of cleverness. If you vilify, condemn and eternally disparage, why, resign your position and when you are outside roar to your heart's content. But I pray you, so long as you are a part of an institution, do not condemn it. Not that you will injure the institution—not that—but when you disparage the concern of which you are a part you disparage yourself.—Elbert Hubbard.

Colony of Cousins.

In Catlin bay, close to the great rock of Gibraltar, there is a colony so unique that it stands out almost as a tribe distinct in itself. Many generations ago, during a storm, a fleet of Genoese fishermen put into the sheltered spot and so escaped the fury of the sea. In the boats, so history has it, were many women, and they became so enamored of the spot that huts were built and they remained. Hundreds of years have passed, and the little tribe still lingers on. It is a colony of cousins, dwelling apart in the shadow of a great rock and going down to the sea in ships to earn a hard won livelihood.

A candidate for parliamentary honors called upon a Scottish miner and met with a hearty reception and assurance of his vote. After his departure the candidate of the opposite party appeared on the scene and received the miner's reply, "Oh, aye, sir; I'll vote for ye." After he had gone the miner's wife remonstrated with her beloved against such behavior. "Never you mind, lassie. Ye see it's like this—two already gone awa' pleased, and when I gang tae gie ma vote I'll please mysel', and there will be three o' us that's pleased."—London Mail.

Uncle Sam's Belt.

The total area of the canal zone, which includes all the land and water within five miles on either side of the center line of the canal, but does not include the area within the three mile limit on the Atlantic and Pacific ends of the canal, is 41½ square miles, of which the land area is 32.35 square miles. The area of Gatun lake within the five mile limit is 106.4 miles, the area of Miraflores lake 1.9 miles and the area of the canal channel itself .85 mile. The area was given in 1911 as 448 square miles, which was correct at that time, but by a treaty proclaimed Feb. 18, 1915, an area of six and one-half square miles adjoining Panama city was ceded to Panama in exchange for two small tracts, one of them in the city of Colon, on which one of the defense batteries of the canal is situated. The same treaty gave the Panama canal administration control of all the waters of Gatun lake outside of the five mile limit and all land adjoining the lake up to the hundred foot contour line, adding sixty-one square miles to the 41½ miles within the zone, making the area of the canal zone and controlled territory 302½ square miles.—Christian Herald.

By Post.

Maurice Maeterlinck, they say, one day found the little daughter of a friend very busily and conscientiously blackening a nice sheet of white paper. He asked to whom she was writing.

"To Prince Charming," said the child. Naturally the reply delighted the author of "The Blue Bird." When the little girl had finished her letter she put the sheet of paper in an envelope, wrote on it "The Prince Charming" and said to Maeterlinck:

"Please stick a stamp on it and put it in the post."

A man to whom the poet was telling the story interrupted him at this point. "And what," said he, "did you do about it?"

"Well," said Maeterlinck dreamily, "I stuck a stamp on the envelope, and I put the letter to the Prince Charming in the letter box on the corner. You never can tell."—New York Post.

Why Japan Cannot Be Starved.

Two of the most interesting sights in Tokyo are the fish market at Nihombashi and the Mitsukoshi department store, very near the Billingsgate of Tokyo. Nihombashi is not only the geographical center of Tokyo, but of Japan, according to the Japanese, who ought to know. Here is situated what is probably the largest fish market in the world. There is every kind of fish a man could mention and a few thousand other varieties. Some big fellows cut up into great steaks, weighing ten pounds or so, and there are little ones which would make good minnow bait. If one could find a hook small enough not to mangle them, I think that in certain sections they must use a chamouis skin for a fish net and save everything that does not pass through the pores. Until the sea dries up around Japan the islands will never starve.—Christian Herald.

Others Have Had the Same Desire.

Two high school girls came into the criminal courtroom a few days ago just after a case had been tried and the jury had been locked up in the jury room for deliberation.

"May we listen to this case?" one of the girls asked an officer of the court. "They just finished the case," replied the official, "and the jury is now debating what its verdict should be."

"May we go and listen to the jury debate?" they asked.

And then the official enlightened them on one phase of the jury system.—Indianapolis News.

The Word Umbrella.

The English word umbrella is very like the Latin, coming through the Italian "ombrella," or "little shade." The French, German, Spanish and others give it a distinctive name, such as "parapluie," "regenschirm" and "paraguas."

"Umbrella" and "parasol" are etymologically precisely the same thing, but custom has given them the distinctions that we understand today.

Rain After Thunder.

Why does a heavy downpour of rain often follow a clap of thunder? asks the Popular Science Monthly, and gives this answer: Not, as is popularly believed, because the thunder jostles the cloud particles together into raindrops. In the violent turmoil between the positive and negative electricity in a thundercloud there will be places where the production of drops by condensation and their subsequent breaking up proceeds more rapidly than elsewhere. Hence in these places there will be more drops to fall as rain and also more electrification, the rainfall occurring about the same time as the flash.

We have, then, starting toward the earth at the same time, light, sound and raindrops. The light, traveling at a speed of about 186,000 miles per second, reaches us almost instantly. The sound travels far more slowly—about 1,090 feet per second—but the rain falls much more slowly still. Thus we observe, first, the lightning, then the thunder and then the rain.

Desert of Sahara.

At one time, some two score years ago, some Englishmen proposed to dig a canal on the northwest coast of Africa, south of Morocco, to admit the waters of the Atlantic into the Sahara desert. It was argued that a great inland sea would thus be created and that ocean vessels might steam into Africa and pick up cargoes along the western Sudan. This fine idea was based upon the prevalent notion that most of the desert surface was much below sea level. It was discovered later that most of the desert stands high above the sea. The French, who have been the greatest explorers of the desert, have corrected other false ideas about the desert. The most conspicuous and persistent of these errors has been the notion that the desert is a vast area of sand. The French have proved that this is not so. In fact, only about one-fifth of the Sahara is covered with sand.

Wonders of Jupiter.

If Jupiter were cut up into 1,300 pieces each would be larger than the earth. All the planets together do not weigh half as much as Jupiter. Only the sun surpasses Jupiter in size. A year on the planet Jupiter is equal to twelve of our years. Jupiter rotates on its axis in less than half the time of the earth, but because of the planet's enormous size the rotation speed is much higher. While the earth travels seventeen miles a minute, Jupiter travels 366 miles a minute. If Jupiter turned on its axis a little faster it would burst, as some flywheels do when they exceed a safe speed. Jupiter may be regarded either as a decaying sun or a developing earth. He has not yet had time to cool. He is a great globe of gaseous and molten matter, the most extraordinary planet in the entire solar system.—Rochester Post-Express.

When Danton Died.

Whenever the spirit of revolt flares over the earth the name of Danton is recalled. It was on the 5th of April in 1794, that Georges Jacques Danton died on the guillotine, a victim of that terrible revolution which he himself had played so large a part in initiating, fostering and directing.

At the foot of the scaffold he muttered, "Oh, my wife, my beloved, I shall never see thee more!" Then he added, "Be thyself, Danton; no weakness!" His last words were to the executioner, "You will show my head to the crowd; it is well worth showing!"

Just a Suggestion.

"It would save us much needed floor space and considerable money if more of our women customers would use the stairway when going up only one flight," said the department store manager. "I wish I knew of some way to make them do it."

"Why not take the mirrors out of the elevators and put them on the stairs?" suggested his bright assistant.—Buffalo Express.

An Heirloom

It Once Served as a Hiding Place

By SADIE OLCOTT

"Flora, here is a letter from Chesley, your Uncle William's lawyer, and he has inclosed a copy of the will."

"To whom has Uncle left his property?" asked Flora.

"I can only speak for that enormous mahogany bedstead by which he set so much store—the mahogany bedstead."

"Did he leave it to me?"

"Of course he did. Don't be foolish, my dear. Listen:

"I, William Gray, being of sound mind, etc., do give and bequeath to my granddaughter, Isabel Gray, her heirs and assigns forever, the mahogany bedstead and the sum of $10,000, to my granddaughter, Flora Gray, who is a child, and assigns to her, to be paid to her when she reaches the age of twenty-one years, and which is known as the mahogany bedstead, together with the sum of $10,000."

"Where shall we put it, Harry?" interrupted Mrs. Winchester breathlessly.

"Put it? You don't expect to get it into this flat?"

"We must have it here. I wouldn't examine it there with Isabel looking on. And, besides, it is such a journey down to Richmond. Anyway, you cannot spare the time to go down now, and we must examine it together. I want to get it here as soon as possible. Who knows but Isabel or some of the others might find the diary of Nancy Gray and learn the secret? My inheritance would be worthless!" Mrs. Winchester's voice trembled.

"Oh, all right," said Winchester tranquilly. "But how the deuce you expect to get it in here I don't quite see. It's a very large piece of furniture, isn't it?"

"Now, Harry, dear," she cried, with one plump hand upon his lips, "that bed must be got into this flat somehow! First I will finish my letter to Mr. Chesley and let Nora post it at once. I can hardly wait to see the bedstead, Harry, and I don't dare dream of what will be ours when the secret of the bedstead is disclosed. Do you think, dear, I was wrong not to tell Uncle William about the diary of Nancy Gray I found in the garret?"

"Well, truthfully speaking, I'm afraid I wasn't treating the old gentleman quite on the square."

Two weeks afterward, while Mr. Winchester was engaged in a most important business transaction, he was summoned to the telephone.

"Yes, this is Winchester. What?"

"Oh, the bedstead there! I can't possibly leave at present. I can't help it. Tell them to send it up tomorrow. I know it's important—the bedstead! No, I didn't speak. Yes, I will come home early. Goodbye."

When he reached the Etruscan apartments that evening Winchester was fortified with a box of candy and a huge bunch of violets. He stepped to the elevator and pressed the button. A faint tinkle responded from some depth below.

Presently the janitor emerged from an obscure doorway and surveyed him with an unpleasant eye.

"It ain't a-run-in!" he said gruffly.

"Poor management," commented Winchester as he prepared to conquer the eight flights that barred him from home and dinner.

"Huh!" exploded the man. "What with the freight elevator out of order, and people breakin' windows movin' in the stuff, and them chumps a-tryin' to put the feet board in my passenger car and a-tryin' a lady's dress, and the landlady's sister-in-law!" He snarled wrathfully at the vanishing form of Winchester.

Opening the door of his apartment, Winchester discovered a huge, black form that most covered the floor of the tiny parlor, which in its chaotic disturbance looked strangely unfamiliar to the master of the house.

In the library Flora reclined on a couch before the bright gas log, while sympathetic Nora applied wet cloths to her mistress' aching head. Wreckage from the parlor impeded progress at every step.

"My dear girl!" he uttered.

"She turned a veritable face to his. "Such a time as they had trying to get it in the window! They were saucy because the window was too small, and one of them pulled it in with a jerk, and it struck the chandelier. The pieces of glass fell on my Wedgwood vase, and that is broken! I—I am quite alone, isn't it?"

With a restless glance toward the parlor, where the mahogany bedstead lay like some dark shadow on his little home, and with an unpleasant recollection of the sporting junior below stairs and of the generous tip it would require to reduce him to his customary state of patrolling familiarity, Winchester endeavored to soothe his wife's shattered nerves, and together they decayed Nora's summons to a belated dinner.

At table Mrs. Winchester drew a folded paper from her gown.

"This is the page I copied from the diary of Nancy Gray, Harry," she said, spreading it open before her. "I thought I would refresh my memory as to the exact location of the secret spring."

"Richmond, Va., April 21, 1864," read Mrs. Winchester in solemn accents. "I am greatly alarmed for the safety of Grandmother Bingham's diamonds, and have vainly tried to find a hiding place for them. The Yankees are digging up every inch of ground on the adjacent plantations searching for buried treasure, and I am quite at a loss to find a safe place for our belongings."

"April 22.—Such an excellent idea! I have just recollected that there is a secret hiding place in Grandmother Bingham's mahogany bedstead. I will conceal the jewels there and will describe their hiding place so that in case anything happens to me one of our family may be able to recover them, even if the bedstead should be carried away."

"First, one must observe the row of hideously grinning faces—'gargoyles,' grandfather called them—that outline the top of the headboard; there are twenty-five of these gargoyles in all, and one must press the right eye of the thirteenth gargoyle from either end, when the face will swing outward, disclosing a cavity. Into this cavity I have dropped the leather bag containing the unset gems—they are worth many thousands of dollars—and I hope to recover them when the war is over."

Armed with hammer and screw-driver, husband and wife repaired to the parlor and locked themselves within, greatly to the disgust of the interested Nora, who availed herself of the keyhole as the only solace to her wounded self respect.

"My dear girl, how do you think I'm going to handle this thing alone? It weighs a ton! Why wasn't it put in the guest room?"

"The instant I saw it in the wagon I knew it would never fit into that room, so I told them to put it in here. We can remove it to the cellar afterward—or store it."

"It fits in here," remarked Winchester.

"Let us rip off the covering—I believe I know just where to place my finger on the spring! This is the headboard, of course, and here are the gargoyles!" cried Flora excitedly.

Winchester took out his knife and leisurely opened the blade. He lifted one corner of the bedstead, groaned and dropped it heavily.

There was a straining and snapping of cords as he applied his knife to the wrappings.

"Oh, Oh! I am just as nervous as I can be!" cried Flora, regardless of her husband's groan as he dragged aside the covering and disclosed the rounded, polished top outlined by a semicircle of hideously carved faces.

"Jove, what a beauty!" ejaculated Winchester, yet with a note of respect in his tone. "What a nightmare! Fancy wishing a guest 'pleasant dreams' and then introducing him to that couch! Whew! Now, which face, Flora, love?"

Mrs. Winchester triumphantly produced the paper from her laces and read solemnly: "The thirteenth gargoyle from either end."

"The one in the middle, of course," announced Winchester.

"Press the right eye," quoted Mrs. Winchester breathlessly. "I shall have them set in a glorious pendant, Harry!" They hung expectantly over the bed.

"Now press," she whispered sibilantly.

Winchester pressed.

"Nothing doing," he announced flatly.

"Press harder," urged his wife. "The secret spring has probably rusted. They do rust sometimes, don't they?"

"I never heard of one doing so. They always yield easily, and the door rolls noiselessly aside and leaves an aperture," said Winchester grimly.

"We must get it open!" cried his wife tearfully. "Try some of the other eyes, Harry."

"But why try the others, my dear? It says the middle one."

"There is—there must be a spring!" retorted Mrs. Winchester. "Why should Nancy have put it in her diary if there was not?"

"I give it up when you ask me to explain the varieties of the female mind!" began Winchester as he viciously jabbed the eyes of all the gargoyles in turn without result.

Flora burst into tears.

"Don't cry, my darling," comforted her husband tenderly. "I'll find out the truth if I have to chop the condemned thing into kindlings!"

"I wish I understood the meaning of a 'con' way," said Winchester presently when his wife had reached a degree of tranquillity where she could nibble a cracker appreciatively.

Again the tears flowed. "I might as well have had another thousand dollars," wailed Flora.

Winchester's elbow knocked a small package from the table to the floor.

"What is this?" he asked, picking it up.

"An envelope parcel that came this afternoon. I haven't had time to look at it."

He ripped off the covers and looked stupidly at a small leather volume in his hand.

"The diary of Nancy Gray?" he exclaimed. "A letter fell from the book, and he opened it eagerly."

"Read it!" commanded Flora impatiently. And he read as follows:

"My dear Mrs. Winchester—Your uncle, the late Mr. William Gray, has placed this little volume in my hands with instructions to turn it over to you after his death. Of course you are aware that your uncle wrote this fantastical little tale for his own amusement many years ago, but it was never published. You are probably in a position to recognize that your uncle's clever wit enabled him to take great liberties with your family history. As the present owner of the Gargoyles bedstead, this little book will prove to be of especial interest to you. Such a valuable antique, and with kind regards, I am, very sincerely yours,

JEREMIAH CHESLEY.

The long silence was broken at last by a suppressed chuckle from Mr. Winchester.

His wife buried her face in the sofa pillows. "Brute!" she sobbed bitterly.

And Winchester is still wondering whom she meant.

Athletic Sports.

"Athletics and soldiering go hand in hand. A good athlete generally makes a good soldier. As far as we are concerned, the more athletics the merrier," says an army officer.

"Our country should do everything to encourage rough manly sports. Away with the tango palaces and such places! On with every kind of rough sport that is going to help make the youths and men of the nation physically fit to undergo whatever duties may confront them!"

"We not only want athletics outside the army, but we want athletics inside the army as part of the military curriculum. Athletic games and sports should be features in every training camp, and for that matter not only running, jumping, throwing the weights, swimming, etc., but also boxing and wrestling. All such sports make for better physical development, encourage self reliance and breed confidence. A man in good physical condition will shoot better, march longer and withstand the rigors of campaigning better than his soft and flabby brother."—New York Sun.

Naming Submarines.

Every one knows what submarines are and what an important factor they have become in modern naval warfare. Their nomenclature is rather interesting, according to the Popular Science Monthly.

In the United States navy the first of these craft were named for various kinds of fish and reptiles, and we had such odd cognomens as Adder, Moccasin, Pike, Sturgeon, Shark, Carp, Haddock, etc., on the naval lists. Before this list of piscatorial names ran out the system was changed, and designations of A-1, A-2, B-1, B-2, etc., down to the more recent submarines known as the O class. In general the numbers applied correspond to the particular lot in which they were constructed, and the letters closely follow the number of years since they were first built. In Germany they are all known as U boats, the U being the first letter of Unterseeboot, meaning submarine.

Blunders of a Sculptor.

Stroll along the treasury department building in Washington into Potomac park and look upon the statue of General William T. Sherman. At each corner of the base stands a soldier figure in full uniform and equipment. Since the day of the unrelenting military men have smiled at the lack of knowledge of military costumes displayed by the sculptor. Each figure wears a blanket roll over the right instead of over the left shoulder, making impossible the use of his rifle. The canteen rests on the left hip under the blanket roll, whereas custom places it on the right, and the cartridge pouch is placed on the right hip, while the military manner of dress prescribes that it be worn in front or on the side.—Washington Post.

Military Watches.

The Jews, like the Greeks and Romans, divided the night into military watches instead of hours. Each watch represented the period for which sentinels or pickets remained on duty. These watches were from sunset to 11 p. m., from 10 p. m. to 2 a. m., and from 2 a. m. to sunrise. Under Roman supremacy a fourth watch was added, the first terminating at 9 p. m., the second at midnight, the third at 3 a. m. and the last at 6 a. m.

Long Lived Icelanders.

It would be interesting to know if any part of the world beats Iceland in the average length of life of its inhabitants. On an average the people of that island live to the age of 61.8 years, which is very nearly double the mean duration of human life as it was computed a generation ago.

Agreed.

"I'd give anything almost if I had Mrs. Toner's savoir faire."

"I think it much more patriotic to own an American made car."—Exchange.

Substitutes For Potatoes.

Green bananas, peeled under water, boiled until mealy and served with drawn butter, salt and pepper, are said to be satisfactory substitutes for potatoes.

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

A Clean Mouth.

The mouth and nose are the busiest parts of entry for disease in the human body. The mouth, particularly when the teeth are defective, retains many germs that would produce disease, and the environment will furnish that which promotes their multiplication. The mucous membrane of the mouth is in itself quite resistant to disease germs, yet at times it becomes infected, and the pus-forming germs bore their way into the bones of the face, producing long suffering and disfigurement, and sometimes proceed until they destroy the life of the individual. Through the absorption from these centers of pus the vital organs of the body are frequently disturbed. Disease of the intestinal tract, which is often secondary to infected teeth, even in its early stages, is very distressing and has a terribly depressing effect on the sufferer. Long life, happiness and prosperity depend much upon a clean mouth full of healthy teeth.

Poison Upon Their Cheeks.

Professor M. P. Philbrick of the University of Washington told the Washington State Philological society that women of the seventeenth century powdered their cheeks with corrosive sublimate (bichloride of mercury) and with white lead. And they perfumed their gloves with ambergris.

Good Likeness.

"Did Miss Sourcil have her photographs taken yesterday?"

"Yes."

"Good likeness?"

"Yes; must have been, for she refused to have them and demanded another sitting."—Exchange.

A Shrub and a Tree.

Southern California boasts one native species of acacia, the cat's claw (a greggii), which is but a shrub in that state, but becomes a tree in Arizona. It bears small pale yellow flowers and an abundance of very sharp thorns.—Argonaut.

Early Paper.

When paper was first made in England, in 1578, it was only of a brown color, and it was not until about 1690 that white paper was produced, and even then it was of inferior quality.

Settled Him.

He—But you say yourself that your father is anxious to get you off his hands. She—Yes; that's why I don't think he'll listen to you.—Boston Transcript.

A man's task is always light if his heart is light.—Wallace.

Pathetic.

Tramp (to woman)—Can you give me something to eat, madam? Woman—No; there ain't a thing in the house, an', besides, I've got a couple of letters to write an' no time to bother. Tramp (pleading)—Madam, let me lick the stamps. I can't starve.—London Telegraph.

Two Definitions of Thrift.

Thrift is the handmaiden of independence. It is not related to greed or parsimony and will gladly be your servant.

Thrift is acquiring something when you have nothing, conserving what you already have and adding to it.

A Symbol of Health.

The Pythagorians of Ancient Greece ate simple food, practiced temperance and purity. As a badge they used the five pointed star which they regarded as a symbol of health. A red five pointed star appears on each package of Chamberlain's Tablets, and still fulfils its ancient mission as a symbol of health. If you are troubled with indigestion, biliousness or constipation, get a package of these tablets from your druggist. You will be surprised at the quick relief which they afford. Obtainable everywhere.
